Power In Numbers Is What Gets Things Done!

As school employees, we make a difference in the lives of the students we work with. But we also can affect the profession itself: its culture, its knowledge base, its standards for practice, and even its future.

Especially For Instructional Support And Ancillary Professionals

Giving the best in our evolving professions requires staying well informed and being a member of NEA-NM. The Association offers several opportunities for professional development on a statewide, regional, local or individual on-line basis.

- Check our web site for the most up-to-date information and links to other useful websites.
- Members Only resources are available through www.nea.org including school safety, dropout prevention, the NEA Professional Library, the NEA Academy and other on-line professional development.
- Our Annual Fall Professional Issues Conference has workshops tailored especially for your needs.
- Our professional records folder has valuable information and tips to help you know how to protect your rights.

When you join the women and men of the National Education Association, you make a difference for New Mexico's young people.

Advocating for excellence in education and for the well-being of school employees is what NEA-NM is all about. Your membership and involvement is a positive investment in public schools and your career. We invite you to join the team that's dedicated to creating great public schools for every child.
